

FIG. 1.10 Variable-temperature cryostat based on continuous transfer of liquid-cryogen from a storage dewar to a cold plate on which the test sample is mounted. Typically, the sample is situated inside an evacuated can, which is surrounded by a thermal radiation shield (figure modeled after one from a catalogue of Cryo Industries 2002).